May Accept The Thayer Bill

Republican Leaders Convinced That Smith Will Accept Thayer State Park Bill—Special Session to Last Three Days.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, June 15. — Republican leaders are almost convinced that Governor Smith will accept the Thayer state park bill which they are planning to repass at the special session of the Legislature called by the governor for a week from tonight.

Pointing to the fact the governor once vetoed the Thayer measure, his friends said today they expected him to reject it a second time if it passed in the same form as it was last winter.

Under the Thayer bill $6,000,000 of the $15,000,000 state park bond issue would have been appropriated for use at once. The governor rejected the bill after charging the Republicans with injecting politics into the state park program. Unless a compromise between the governor and the Republican leaders is reached, or the governor accepts the Republican bill, not one cent of the $15,000,000 bond issue can be spent by the State Park Council before next year.

The real fight between the governor and the Republicans is over the state land board. The Republicans insist that the land board approve the purchase or appropriation of all land by the park council. The governor claims the land board is not qualified to do this and he also stresses the point that if the proposed amendment to the constitution to reorganize the state government is adopted this fall the land board will pass out of existence.

Republicans who insist that the governor will accept the Thayer bill in its original form,—providing he cannot get his own measure through the Legislature—point to the fact that scores of options on land taken by the park council will expire on July 1 if they are not taken up. At present the council is without funds and the Republicans do not relieve the council it will permit these options to expire under any conditions.

Both the governor and the Republicans, through Senator John Knight, leader of the upper house, have carried their park fight to the people of the state by radio. The governor charged that certain wealthy men were trying to break down the work of the park council by having the land board approve the taking of all land. Senator Knight charged that the $15,000,000 bond issue would result in a "carnival of extravagance" if the land board idea was rejected.

It is virtually certain now the special session will last for three days and possibly a week. The general belief is for about three days.

Liquor Blamed For Disorders

In the Strike Area at Sydney, According to President McLeod—More Troops En Route to the Coal Fields.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Sydney, N. S., June 15.—Rioting on both sides of Sydney harbor, in the coal strike area, were reported today.

Liquor smuggled in at New Waterford and Glace Bay was given the striking miners and with minds inflamed strikers and their sympathizers attacked the British Empire Steel Corporation's warehouse at Glace Bay and a general store at Sydney mines.

Crowds of nearly 1,000 miners were present at both places.

Provincial police and soldiers apparently did nothing to stop either disturbance. The police did not leave the jail, where they are quartered, and the bulk of the soldiery continued their guard duty at the steel plant and the New Aberdeen power station, a mile from the scene of the disorders

James Murdock, minister of labor, was reported en route for the Cape Breton coal fields today in an endeavor to mediate the differences between the steel corporation and the United Mine Workers of America The minister of labor had previously declined the invitation of the men to come to Cape Breton for arbitration on the ground that the corporation had declined to be a party to such an arrangement.

District President of the Mine Workers John W. McLeod, in a statement, blamed liquor for the latest disorders in the strike area. Since the advent of the strike last March all liquor establishments have been closed and there has been no intemperance until last week.

More troops were reported en route to the coal fields this afternoon to join the soldiery entrenched behind barbed wire entanglements and trenches at the steel corporation's plant and at the New Aberdeen power station. Following the arrival of a troop train from St. Johns, two other troop trains were reported approaching, one fom Hamilton and one from Quebec.

Dorothy's Version Of the Shooting

Young Perkins Girl Says She Carried Gun, but Doesn't Know Who Killed Her Lover, Thomas Templeton.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, June 15.—Dorothy Perkins, 17, with blonde bobbed hair, the youngest girl ever tried in New York for murder, took the witness stand in her own defense today. She is accused of having shot and killed Thomas Templeton, one of her admirers, at a party in her home last February.

The frail, little defendant made an unconsciously pathetic and appealing figure. She was dressed completely in black, except for white lace collar. She seemed to be trying her best to be self possessed. Just before she tripped to the stand she had a brief fit of tears when in conference with her counsel.

In a quiet voice, Dorothy told the jury her version of the shooting.

She said she came home on the night of the party and found Templeton, her father and three other men in the bed room She said there were bottles around the table.

Dorothy admitted she took "two or three drinks."

The men went out, she said, and she and Tommy were left alone.

"He said he'd give both his arms and legs if everything could be all right between us," she said, "but I said, 'no, there is always too much trouble'."

Then her father came in and said: "What do you want with a bum like Conners when you can have a nice fellow like Tommy?"

Dorothy said she remembered there was a gun in the bureau drawer. She said Templeton had been giving her shooting lessons.

Afraid that her father might try to shoot Connors, she said, she started to take the gun to a friend's house when she met her father at the foot of the stairs.

"Father called me a name," she said. "He said 'I'll kill you,' and slapped my face. As I started to fight him, mother came up and grabbed him.

"I just remember something like a gun shot, somebody hollered 'Tommy is killed,' and I ran into the bed room.

"I don't know whether I had the gun in my hand and I don't know how the trigger was pulled and I don't know how it went off."

She then ran to the home of a friend, she said, where, shortly afterwards she was arrested.

Upon cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney Mac Donald, Dorothy denied the shooting was caused by her love for Mickey Connors.

She admitted taking the revolver from the home of her aunt, Mrs. Anna McCall, at Brockton, Conn., and carrying it in her hand bag one time when she and Tommy went to the movies.

"Did you kill Tommy Templeton?"

"No, I don't know who killed him."

Dorothy declared Connors had threatened to kill her if she told of his relations with her.

Calles Accepts The Challenge Of Kellogg

Cable From President Calles of Mexico For Publication Intimates That Mexico Has Been Insulted—Coolidge Banks on Success of Adjustment of Differences.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 15.—President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg got back to Washington today after a week-end yacht trip on the Mayflower to find that during their absence from the capital President Calles of Mexico had taken the opportunity to publicly defend himself and his government from the assault launched last Friday by the state department.

In an 1800 word statement cabled from Mexico City for publication in the United States, Calles accepted the challenge offered by Secretary Kellogg that Mexico must live up to her international obligations, intimated that Mexico had been insulted, that Kellogg had been neither truthful or just, and declared that the sovereignty of the Mexican government had been threatened.

The upshot of the situation today, following the publication of two of the bluntest and most bristling public statements issued on behalf of governments in this hemisphere for many years, is that relations between the United States and Mexico are again dangerously near the breaking point.

The statement of President Calles had the same status as that of Secretary Kellogg. It was not a formal note, addressed to the government of the United States, but simply an exposition of his views for publication in the newspapers. From one angle, the international debate now under way between the United States and Mexico is an experiment in the new "open diplomacy," in that the general public on both sides of the Rio Grande have been let in on a situation, which ordinarily would have been discussed privately between the two governments before publicity was given to formal communications

The president and his secretary of state are banking on the success of the "open diplomacy" and, despite the position taken by Calles they are hopeful that outspoken treatment of the situation will clear the air of any misunderstanding which may exist and pave the way for adjustment of differences between Washington and Mexico City.

Both the president and secretary of state obtained copies of the Calles statement and read it from beginning to end. What the next step of the government would be was undetermined, although it was apparent that Kellogg could not go much further than he did in his statement on the Mexican situation probably would have to be a note to the Mexican foreign office.

On some questions raised by Kellogg, President Calles can see no possibility of improving existing conditions. This was especially true in connection with Kellogg's demand that Mexico immediately indemnify Americans for lands seized under the Constitution of 1917. To this Calles replied: "The application of the agrarian laws cannot be a subject of complaint because Mexico has issued them in the exercise of her sovereignty, and apart from that, the state department, in behalf of the American citizens, has accepted the form of indemnization prescribed by the Mexican laws."

Calles said contradiction was found in Kellogg's statements that the United States had the greatest interest in maintaining order in Mexico but that he had seen news of revolutionary movements.

In reference to the fact that in some cases, American ambassadors in Mexico had been called on to represent the British government because no diplomatic relations existed between Great Britain and Mexico, Calles called attention "to the fact that said ambassador does not represent any other foreigner, but his own fellow citizens and Mexico could not admit that without previous authorization the American ambassador should act in behalf of persons or interests alien to those of his country."

The statement that Mexico is "on trial before the world," Calles said "would only mean an insult."

Kidnapper Takes Three Children

Vows of Vengeance are Being Made by Neighborhood—Search for Man Who Took Children for a Ride.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rome, N. Y., June 15.—Believed kidnapped by a man whom their father befriended, pretty 16 year old Irene Cutler and her 14 year old brother, Kenneth, children of Herbert E Cutler, 102 Mill street, together with Williard Cadrette, 14, are the objects of search by police of this region today

Their alleged kidnapper is Daniel Williams, 53, Jack-of-all-trades, who had the three missing children in his car the last time they were seen by their parents a week ago Saturday night

While police seek to capture Williams and recover the three children, fury is seething in the neighborhood where the youngsters lived and vows of vengeance on the alleged kidnapper are being made.

Williams, police say, served a prison sentence for a serious offense some time ago. He has lived at the Cutler home since early last winter, when Herbert Cutler, moved to pity because the man was without a home, took him in. He is not regularly employed but works at various trades, traveling about a good deal in a light Ford delivery truck which he sometimes uses to cart junk.

A week ago Saturday night, according to Mr Cutler, Williams drove up to his home and took the Cutler children and the Cadrette boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cadrette, Mill street, into his car, ostensibly to give them a few minutes' ride Since that time no word has been received from the three.

Brooklyn Giants Here Tuesday

Royal Giants of Brooklyn Will Be Attraction at Fair Grounds Tuesday Evening.

The Brooklyn Royal Giants one of the best teams seen at the Kingston Fair Grounds this season will be the attraction at the ball park Tuesday afternoon, at 6:30 o'clock. The Giants have one defeat chalked up against the Colonials and the game Tuesday will give the Colonials an opportunity to even up the score.

Who will be in the box for the Colonials is still undecided. Paul Kinney, former Glens Falls hurler, is scheduled to arrive in Kingston in time for Tuesday's game and if he arrives he may be the selection of the Robins-Deegan combination. If not Mike Morgan may be given the job of stopping the Royals The last time the Royal Giants appeared here in April they were able to push across three runs while the Colonials were getting one. Clyde Russell who opposed the Royals on that occasion was touched up for eleven hits but they were kept well scattered and the small score resulted. Four singles were all the Colonials made off the Giants.

With two victories added to their last over the week end the Colonials appear to be hitting their pace and the Royal Giants may find a different problem than they found in April.

Dentist Admits Slaying Wife

Los Angeles Dentist Drugged His Pretty and Wealthy Wife and Threw Her in a Cistern—"Money Mad" Motive for Slaying.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 15.—While Dr. Thomas W. Young, Los Angeles dentist, sat calmly in a jail cell under heavy guard today, the wheels of the law were set swiftly turning to bring him to immediate trial for the self confessed murder of his beautiful and wealthy wife, Grace Young, Los Angeles society woman and California club leader. Dr. Young is 46; his wife was 37.

District Attorney Asa Keyes declared everything of the carefully planned and executed "murder of science" has been uncovered, following Young's confession and the removal of Mrs Young's body from a cistern at the dentist's cabin in Beverly Glen, where he burned the corpse after killing his wife, February 22.

"I strangled her with somnoform, a heavy dental gas," Dr Young told the district attorney. "I knew it would kill her quickly and I held the rubber cone in her mouth until she stopped breathing."

Young, who broke down Saturday night after hours of grilling, and made a brief confession, today gave the details of the crime on his return from the scene of the murder, where he watched the officers remove his wife's body from the cistern

"I brought her to the cabin in my car the night of February 21," Young said "We had quarrelled and she had slapped me. Previously I had given her some whiskey in my office. She was drowsy. I took the vial of somnoform and the rubber cone from my office.

"When we reached the cabin she was very sleepy from the whiskey and I placed the cone over her mouth, placed cotton in her nostrils and she died shortly after inhaling the gas."

Shortly afterward, the dentist covered the body with tarpaulin and thrust it into the cistern beneath the cabin, according to District Attorney Keyes.

Two nights later, according to the authorities, Young took his wife's son, Charles Patrick Grogan, 18, heir to the millions of the late Pat Grogan, to the cabin. The body had started to give odor, Young declared, according to detectives who questioned him, and he had the boy mix concrete outside the cabin, which the dentist poured over the corpse in the cistern.

Young, according to Keyes, killed his wife because he was "money mad" and the dentist undoubtedly planned to wrest the Grogan fortune from his step-son by any means necessary, the district attorney declared.

Insanity, it was predicted today, would be his defense.

I'm crazy," Young told detectives. Of course I'm crazy or I would not have done what I have."

An inferiority complex, nurtured from childhood until it gave the dentist an uncontrollable desire to kill, will be the basis of the defense, it was said.

"I fully expect medical experts and alienists will be retained in an effort to save Young from the gallows," Keyes said.

Miss Dorothy Leopold, Dr. Young's beautiful young assistant, assisted the authorities in unraveling the murder mystery, according to the district attorney's office. She was said to have urged Young to talk freely, after she herself had been questioned regarding a diamond ring owned by the murdered woman which the dentist had given her.

SAYS EVOLUTION IS HOPE OF THE WORLD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 15.—The science of evolution found a new and staunch defender today in the person of Sir Oliver Lodge, famous writer on psychics.

"Don't be frightened by the word evolution," he counseled in a speech. "The word has frightened the people of America."

Those present took this as a reference to the forthcoming trial in Tennessee of Professor Scopes who was indicted for teaching evolution in a Tennessee school in violation of the state law.

"I don't know what the people of America think the word evolution means," continued Lodge, "but evolution is the hope of the world.

"Evolution means growth, development and progress. The world is a going concern and we do not want it to become stagnant. If it is not stagnant then it must be evolving

"We have been on this earth a long time as conscious beings, yet we have not been intelligent very long. Now that we are intelligent we can help in the process of evolution."

The condition of peaches in Georgia, North Carolina and Arkansas is nearly the same as a year ago but the condition in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia is very much below that of last year. The total peach crop of the United States is now forecast at 47,055,000 bushels compared with 53,137,000 bushels in 1924, 45,382,000 in 1923 and 55,852,000 in 1922.

A condition of 82 per cent is reported for pears as compared with 90 a year ago and 79 for the past ten years The crop is now forecast at 2,192,000 bushels compared with 2,100,000 bushels harvested in 1924.

The total United States pear crop is forecast at 17,477,000 bushels compared with 18,328,000 bushels in 1924 and an average for the past five years of 17,056,000 bushels The condition figure for Michigan is reported as 44 compared with 75 last year, of Washington 63 compared with 79; of Oregon 60 compared with 76, and of California 73 compared with 77

Frost injury to the grape buds is reported as varying from two per cent in the Keuka Lake section to above 20 per cent in the Chautauqua grape belt.

FREIGHT SPEED COSTLY.

English Freight Moves Faster Than American but Costs More.

A railroad photograph shows a train of 100 cars, each loaded with 50 or more tons. Thus one train load may reach 5,000 tons. But such methods Americans obtain freight rates which average only half the rates paid in England Speed of service in the latter country has been obtained by the use of small cars and short trains. The average freight train load in England is only 130 tons, or less than three ordinary freight cars in the United States Freight moves much faster in England than it does here, although in some respects delays are longer.

To unload a ten-ton car of coal in England the consignee may take four days. In this country two days is the limit to unload fifty-one cars of coal. American shippers often cite the speed of English freight movement. But that speed is the most costly commodity which British shippers and consumers pay for. It adds millions of dollars to their freight bill.

American freight moves more slowly; it moves in trains averaging more than five times the weight of British trains; but it also moves at half the price to the American consumer. Americans may be noted for speed in most things, but they scarcely crave speed in freight trains at the price our cousins beyond the Atlantic pay.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Why I recommend the use of pure mustard

by Alfred W. McCann

Mr. McCann says:

"Pure mustard increases the digestibility of all meats. It makes more flavorful and appetizing such foods as boiled beans, tomatoes, spinach, green salads, potato salads, spaghetti, etc. It is more than three times as piquant as vinegar and stimulates gastric activity.

"Gulden's Mustard is always pure, always good, always keen."

New York Hay Acreage Reduced

The acreage of tame hay in New York this year is about 67,000 acres less than last year or 4,877,000 acres compared with 4,944,000 acres last year and the average of 4,900,000 acres for the past five years, according to the combined state and federal crop report for June issued from the New York State Department of Farms and Markets. While the yield now forecast is only 1.30 tons per acre compared with 1.46 tons last year, it is about average and promises a total crop of 6,367,000 tons The production was 7,241,000 tons last year and the average for the past five years has been 6,354,000 tons

The hay crop in Pennsylvania now promises fair but for the United States as a whole, the growing crop is in poor condition and the prospecpective crop is 82,000,000 tons compared with 98,000,000 tons last year, 89,000,000 tons in 1923 and 96,000,000 in 1922. The prospects in the northcentral states which compete most strongly with New York in hay production, are particularly poor. The group of seven states from Ohio westward to Iowa and northward to Minnesota now expect 23,460,000 tons this year against the 1924 harvest of 34,509,000 tons. This is a decrease of practically one-third The tier of states immediately west of this group, from Kansas to North Dakota, have promise of a reduction of about one-fifth The Pacific Coast states and Colorado, Idaho and Montana, taken as a group, have a slight increase With unusually large stocks of old hay still on hand, New York growers will undoubtedly welcome this possibility of a decreased crop in competing states.

The area of oats sown in New York has returned to about normal and the 1,031,000 acres sown this year is 85,000 acres more than were sown last year. The crop forecast is 34,332,000 bushels, compared to last year's crop of 34,056,000 bushels For the United States as a whole, there has been an increased acreage but the poor growing conditions forecasts a crop of only 1,295,456,000 bushels, a decrease of 16 per cent

The state winter wheat crop will be about 7,178,000 bushels compared with 6 588,000 bushels last year. The national crop of 407,000,000 bushels, however, is 31 per cent below the quantity harvested last year and the spring wheat crop, with an increased acreage over last year, promises only 254,000,000 bushels, compared with 283,000,000 in 1924.

Pasture conditions, because of the cold weather during May, were only slightly better on June 1 than on the same date in the previous two years The best conditions were in the central, southern and northeastern counties The state average of 86 per cent is better than in 1924, but below the ten-year average of 91 per cent For the United States as a whole, the June 1 condition of 78 per cent compares with 85 per cent last year and the ten-year average of 90

FACTORS THAT REDUCE SUMMER MILK PRODUCTION.

Drying pastures, hot weather and flies combine to decrease milk production. It is well known that these conditions must be faced during the latter part of the average summer season. As a rule too much time passes before steps are taken by the dairymen to remedy the situation.

The ordinary pasture which always submits to the first dry spell is being replaced by sweet clover, which is proving to be of great value as a pasture crop. Sweet clover will continue to grow after most other pasture grasses have dried up. The use of the summer silo is each year becoming more general, and is of great assistance as a summer source of feed.

Cows forced to be out in the sun during the hot days decrease in their production. Day stabling, which prevents exposure to the hot sun, would undoubtedly be more generally practiced if the supply of good labor was more plentiful. Until day stabling becomes more general the importance of providing shade for pastures cannot be overemphasized.

It has taken a long time to develop a fly repellant which will last for more than a few hours and at the same time be reasonable in cost. There are now on the market preparations for combating flies which are proving out. It pays to reduce the fly nuisance rather than sacrifice on milk production.

It is difficult to bring a cow back to a full flow of milk once the flow has been decreased. Thus it is important that reasonable means be taken during the coming weeks to counteract the factors which will decrease production.

NORTH ARCTIC CLAIMS.

Canada announces claim to all sub-Arctic and Arctic islands north of Hudson's Bay. At Ottawa a few days ago an amendment to the Northern Territories act was adopted which required aliens entering the hinterland of British America to take out Federal licenses. According to Charles Stuart, Minister of the Interior, "this will apply to men like Dr. Macmillan and Captain Amundsen, as a result of whose explorations a question may arise as to sovereignty over newly explored territory which they may discover in the northern portion of Canada. We claim all that portion, discovered or undiscovered." Minister Stuart answered in the affirmative when asked if Canada claimed sovereignty "right up to the Pole." It is further stated that Canada claims the Arctic islands north of her organized territory by right mainly of British discovery.

But if Canada can claim the Arctic islands north of her organized territory, so can the United States, Norway and Russia. The several claims of this sort would cover a triangular area vast at the base but ever lessening in width until they become needle-pointed as they touch the Pole. The Macmillan expedition, which will start this month, presumably may claim title for the United States to any land discovered within the triangular area which has its wide base on the north coast of Alaska and its narrow apex at the Pole. Therein is enormous space now marked "unexplored," in which may be found islands as well as icy sea, and the possible islands may be found to contain valuable mineral deposits. Obviously the Macmillan expedition is of no little importance and its results may be of great interest.

CAMILLE FLAMMARION.

The reputation of Camille Flammarion, the French astronomer whose long and useful life has just ended, is said to have suffered in the estimation of other astronomers because, notwithstanding his solid professional attainments and services to science, his imagination and faith in the unseen sometimes carried him beyond the domain of the certainly known. And to some extent he lost caste as a popularizer of science, for, as one commentator puts it, "there is much in astronomy which can not be understood without long preliminary study and the attempt to bring such things into language comprehensible to common people is apt to excite the condemnation, as well as the derision, of the specialists."

To one of his books Flammarion frankly gave the title, "The Dreams of an Astronomer," and another was entitled "Death and Its Mystery." These and others are said to have "weakened the authority" of a skilled and watchful observer. It is pertinently suggested that if he had confined himself to the writing of solid textbooks and articles to be read only by other astronomers, he might have gained high repute in professional circles, and none at all outside of them. One critic even complains of his "solemn suggestions of inhabitants in other worlds than ours"—suggestions obviously based on sound reason, for if our little earth alone has inhabitants among millions of worlds, there is a stupendous waste of material that is inconceivable. Flammarion seems to have offended because he reasoned from the known to the unknown and eagerly desired to look beneath the surface of things.

Another Bible-reading "marathon" is reported, this time from California. The pastor in charge of the gallop through Holy Writ is quoted as saying that "the experiment of reading the Bible aloud from cover to cover, while the rest of the world is arguing about the book's infallibility, will foster love for the Scriptures and encourage a return to the custom of reading the Bible aloud in the home." It is more likely to strengthen the belief of worldlings that the level of intelligence among such persons as this pastor is low.

To the average American mind the choice of an author to succeed a political dictator is practically inconceivable, yet it is reported that D'Annunzio has been picked for Mussolini's job. The daring aviator and conqueror of Fiume, however, is more than a poet, playwright and novelist. He seems to have not a few of the characteristics of a military adventurer of unbounded ambition.

A set of "The Book of Knowledge" has been ordered burned, by officials of school district 18, Jewell county, Kansas, because it contains affirmative discussion of the theory of evolution. But Tennessee is still getting all the advertising.

A climate that forces the substitution of an electric fan for a coal fire within 24 hours has its drawbacks.

PREPARATORY SCHOOLS.

I examined the boys in a large preparatory school for a period of ten years. It was interesting to see the progress these boys made physically. From September to June, I have seen boys increase as much as twenty-five pounds during the age of puberty. Other boys would increase fifteen pounds, whilst the general average was about eight to ten pounds.

Would these boys have improved to this extent at home?

That is just a question. Answering for the majority of the boys I would say that the ratio of increase would not have been as good.

Why?

Because mothers and fathers like their children to have a good time, would have permitted later hours, perhaps more shows, and the articles of food that would not have been conducive to sturdiness.

These boys ate plain, wholesome food, and there were jugs filled with the best milk obtainable, always on the table. In truth they did patronize a "tuck shop" on the premises, but as their weekly allowance was very limited, the candy eaten after the daily outdoor exercise, was of more help than harm to them.

But at the school mentioned there were a number of "day" boys, that is boys who lived at home, had their lunch at the school or brought one with them, and their other meals and habits were regulated at home. The ratio of increase in weight, yes, and in general physical development, did not average as high as in the boys who were residents at the school.

Now I am not advising parents to send their children to these private preparatory schools instead of to our own public and high schools. The teaching in our public and high schools is bound to be more uniform because of the preparation the teachers undergo, and the inspection to which they are subjected.

What I am trying to drive home, however, is that in school age, when the whole frame, the whole body, is getting its natural growth and development, whether the parents gave it a good one or a poor one with which to start, that everything should be done to encourage regularity in eating, in sleeping, in study, and in the regular play outdoors. In these private schools every youngster plays on some team, if it is only the fifth team in the college.

Outdoor play, regular hours, nourishing meals, proper rest, will give the body every chance to do its best.

LEAENA.

Leaena was a courtesan of Athens who took an active part in the conspiracy of Harmodius and Aristogiton, against Hipparchus, son of Pisistratus. She was arrested and put to the torture by Hippias, the brother of Hipparchus, but she refused to betray her accomplices. However, fearful that her resolution would not endure against the torments she was suffering, she bit through her tongue and spat it in the face of her tormentor. When the Athenians recovered their liberty, they erected in her honor the statue of a lion without a tongue. She lived about B. C. 505.

MUGWUMPS.

The first general use of the term "Mugwump" as applied to a deserter from a political party, was during the presidential campaign of 1884. On June 15 of that year a newspaper in New York referred to the independent Republicans who had deserted Blaine as "mugwumps" and the word was immediately taken up all over the United States as a fit appellation for the disaffected Republicans calling themselves "independents." The word is supposed to be of Algonquin origin, and was used by the Connecticut Indians as a synonym for captain, leader, or superior person. In the modern political meaning it is applied satirically to those who consider themselves superior to their former partisan associates. The word was incorporated into the American language long before it obtained its modern political significance, being often used in New England and the middle west as a synonym for dude, pharisee, etc.

AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

The first, or organization meeting, of the American Medical Association, was held in New York in 1846. It was organized along the lines of the British Medical Association, founded fourteen years earlier. The first society of physicians in America was the New Jersey State Medical Society, founded in 1766. The first permanent resident physician in America was Dr. John Pot, who settled in Virginia in 1610. Dr. Samuel Fuller, who came over in the Mayflower in 1620 was the first to settle in New England. Most of the early physicians were taught the healing art by practitioners to whom they were apprenticed for from three to seven years. The first law for the regulation of medical practice was passed in Massachusetts in 1640. The first hospital was opened in Philadelphia in 1756. Nine years later the University of Pennsylvania established its medical department, and since then the city of Brotherly Love has been one of the chief medical centers of America. The term "doctor" was first applied to American physicians in 1769. The first medical journal, The Medical Repository, was issued in 1771. Elizabeth, the first woman physician, graduated in 1849.

President's Occupations

There has never been a president of the United States who was a minister. Washington was a farmer and surveyor. William Henry Harrison studied medicine, but turned to the army and later to politics. Taylor was a soldier and a Louisiana cotton planter. Johnson was a tailor and Grant a tanner, farmer, real estate agent, hardware clerk and soldier. Roosevelt's profession was politics from his twenty-second year on. Harding was a newspaper man. All the others, after various beginnings, were lawyers.

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 19

Question: Why is a used Buick the next best buy to a new Buick?

Answer: Because the correctness of Buick design and the quality of Buick manufacture are not altered by use. A used Buick is a better investment than many new cars of other makes.

Shop at home
—first

YEARS ago people went into the market place "to shop." They went, not knowing what they would find, its price or its worth. Weary hours were spent in inspection, in bargaining and buying.

Today manufacturers are bringing the market place to your home. Every time a newspaper comes, a host of people are ringing your doorbell. Merchants and manufacturers are waiting on the doorstep to spread their goods at your feet for you to look at—to inspect at leisure and in comfort.

Don't let the opportunity that advertisements offer you slip by. No matter what you want, clothing, groceries, a fountain pen or a farm, you will find the "better" ones in the advertising columns.

The advertisements tell you where you can get what you want. They are a guarantee of worth that protects your purchase.

Buying with a definite knowledge is so much better than shopping at random.

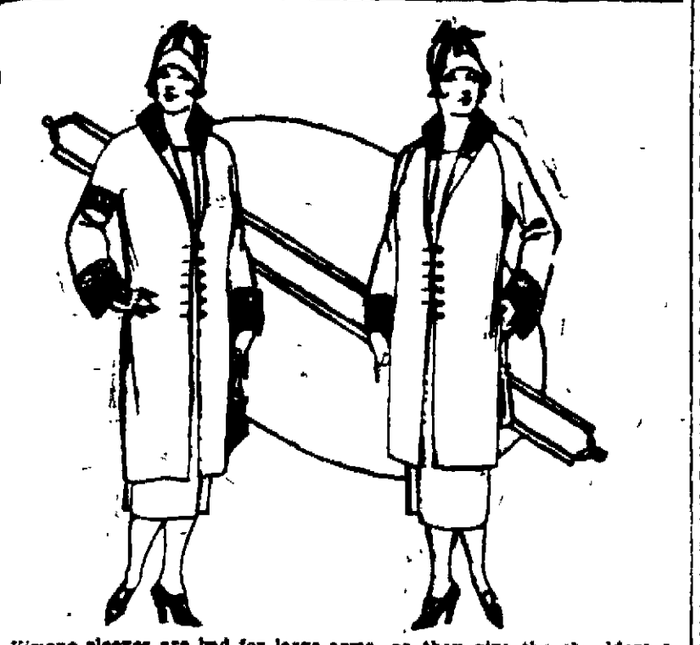
Kimono Sleeve In Coat Gives Added Weight To Shoulders



Kimono sleeves are bad for large arms, as they give the shoulders a Dempsey-like appearance. Set-in or raglan sleeves are best. This is an especially good point to remember in buying a coat, for this is a garment in which large shoulders are especially conspicuous.

Auxiliary of The Benedictine

(Official Report.)

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Benedictine Hospital was held at the nurses' home Wednesday, June 3. As this was the last meeting of the year, no meetings being held during the summer months, a good sized attendance was present to hear the officers' resume of the year's various activities.

The auxiliary functions at all events connected with the Benedictine Hospital, as well as initiates its own affairs to raise money to be used for new hospital equipment and the ever present need of replenishing and repairing regular supplies.

Last August the Benedictine Sisters opened the new wing of the hospital with very impressive ceremonies, at which time the auxiliary took charge of the decorations and refreshments and formed a committee to receive the many guests and show them through the new building.

In October and December two afternoon card parties were held in the Knights of Columbus building and the proceeds completed the payment on the piano in the nurses' home.

On October 22, the members of the auxiliary had the pleasure of meeting the Rev. C. B. Moulinier, S. J., president of Catholic Hospital Association, who spoke on the work of auxiliaries of the various hospitals under his supervision, with particular reference to the work of this auxiliary. Many of his valuable suggestions have already taken concrete form.

At Christmas time the hospital and the nurses' home were artistically decorated by the auxiliary, and baskets of goodies and gifts brought holiday cheer to the shut-ins.

On February 5, 6 and 7, a bazaar was held in St. Mary's Hall, which proved a success beyond all expectation. A considerable sum of money was raised and has already been used in remodelling a section of the main building and in securing new equipment. A complete new bathroom, a lavatory, three new outfits for sterilizing and equipment for a demonstration room, were all made possible with the funds from the bazaar. The demonstration room is completely supplied with the latest approved equipment for hospital use. Here the student nurse is instructed in all branches of service, from the simplest to the most complicated. In this manner she receives her technical training in conjunction with the practical work on the hospital floors.

On February 15, the Benedictine Sisters entertained the bazaar workers, the assemblage attending benediction in the hospital chapel and later a reception and tea in the nurses' home.

On April 13, the annual Benedictine ball was held in the New York state armory and kept to the high standard of former balls in being a brilliant social affair as well as a financial success. Proceeds from this ball will be used in furthering the work of the hospital.

The week beginning May 10 was designated as Hospital Week, and was fittingly celebrated at the hospital by appropriate exercises on Sunday, May 10, at which the auxiliary assisted in receiving the large number of guests who availed themselves of the opportunity of inspecting the hospital.

The baby party, held Tuesday afternoon of Hospital Week, was in charge of the auxiliary and no effort was spared to make this an enjoyable afternoon for the tiny guests and their mothers as well. Dainty refreshments were served, and appropriate mementos were carried away by the little ones.

The regular meeting June 3 closed a very active and successful year. Many new members were secured during the foregoing months. At this meeting Sister Margaret, reverend superintendent of the hospitle, thanked the members of the auxiliary, in the name of the Benedictine Sisters, for the splendid accomplishments of the year. Plans were then made for the first fall meeting, to be held Wednesday, October 7, and also for a reception and tea for members and friends of the hospital to be held in the nurses' home Wednesday, October 21.

Black Loses Gold Watch.

Joseph Black, a son of Mayor Black and a student at the Kingston high school, last week lost a valuable square white gold watch at the high school. The watch was a gift to the young man and any one finding it would confer a favor by returning it to him or to Principal Van Ingen at the high school.

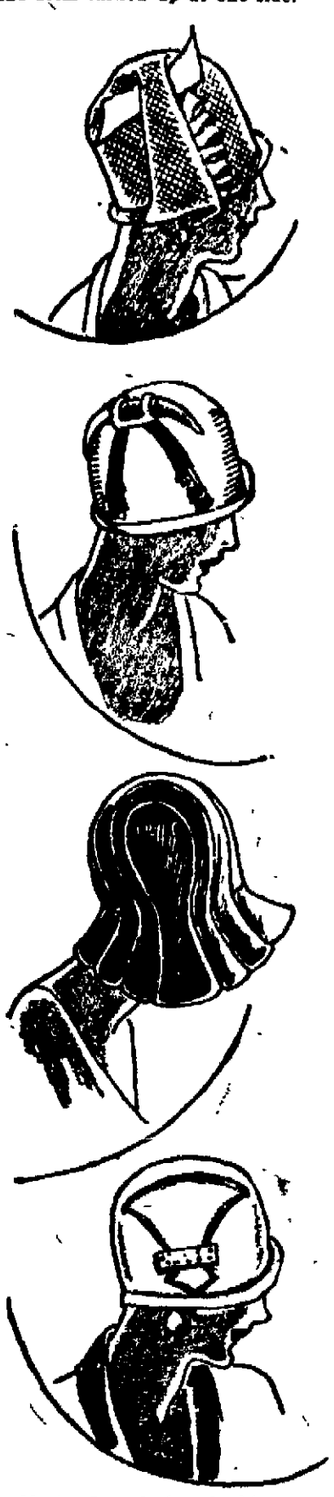
THESE HATS HAVE JUST ARRIVED FROM PARIS AND ARE FORECASTS FOR FALL.

Told in brief, the description of the hats sketched, just before their voyage across the Atlantic, are as follows: The first, a bois de rose model, has the ribbon looped and tucked under the crown fold. The hat is Bangkok, of self color, with the brim turned up at one side.



Maria Guy designed this second hat, also, with its odd silver buckle which catches a fold in the straw. Two ribbon ends are finished with tiny pleatings.

Georgette uses mahogany velvet trimmed with a stitching, and made in a very novel and irregular working of the velvet on one side, and she also made a beige felt, with a felt triangle held down by a silver slide which is cut out in novel design.

How to get this $1.00 Cook Book for 10c

How you Save 90c

During the coming week we will give you, for 10c, an unusual cook book with a minimum value of $1.00—provided you accompany that 10c with a wrapper from a can of Crisco.

This cook book consists of 231 pages of cooking and serving information—the sort of information that will give really practical daily help to even an experienced cook. Prepared by Marion Harris Neil, formerly cooking editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, it contains also 615 tested recipes.

In "A Calendar of Dinners" Mrs. Neil approaches the housekeeper's daily problem of "what for dinner" from a fresh, sympathetic viewpoint.

Her cook book will save you a great deal of time and worry when you are puzzled over the menu for a dinner.

For it contains a special dinner menu for every day in the year and gives recipes for a great many of the dishes mentioned in these menus.

Does any shortening, besides CRISCO, possess these 10 virtues?

1. Crisco is a pure vegetable shortening—not an animal fat. Crisco is made from the pure sweet oils of growing plants.
2. Crisco delightfully answers every shortening and frying purpose: For Cake-making. Shortening. Frying.
3. Crisco gives perfectly delicious results. Crisco cakes are light and tender and stay fresh longer. Crisco fried foods are crisp outside and tender and fine-flavored inside. Crisco pie crusts and pastry are deliciously brown and flaky.
4. Crisco needs no refrigeration. It keeps sweet and fresh indefinitely without ice-box help.
5. Crisco is very digestible. (Food authorities say that an easily digested fat should melt near body heat—98⅘ degrees. Crisco melts even below this temperature.
6. Crisco helps to secure uniform cooking results, for Crisco itself is absolutely uniform. Crisco never varies—it is the same to-day, to-morrow and a year from to-day.
7. In frying with Crisco you avoid smoke and unpleasant odors. Crisco never publishes, to living room culture, unpleasant scents of kitchen activities.
8. In frying, Crisco is but little absorbed by foods. Crisco makes fried foods with a crisp, brown outside and a tender, digestible inside.
9. After frying with Crisco you can strain it and use it again and again. You can fry fish, then onions, then potatoes in Crisco and the potatoes will not even hint of the onion.
10. In all kinds of cooking Crisco lets the fine full flavor of the ingredients come out—undisguised by the flavor of the shortening itself.

Special Crisco Week at your grocer's

During the coming week you will see Crisco prominently displayed in your grocer's store. He will invite you to buy a can.

If you order by telephone he will mention Crisco especially.

His reasons are two-fold and both are reasons of service to you:

1. Wishing to do you a service beyond the mere filling of your daily order, your grocer will urge you to buy a can of Crisco this week because he will thus help you to secure for 10c a cook book valued at $1.00 at least.
2. As a progressive modern merchant your grocer naturally prefers to sell you the most practical and wholesome food ingredients. He would rather sell you a shortening which you can use for every cake-making, every shortening and every frying purpose than one whose usefulness is limited. When he sells you Crisco he knows that he is selling you a shortening which alone delightfully answers every shortening purpose; a wholesome shortening made from the pure sweet oils of growing plants.

Her Dangerous Game

Dorothy was a flirt whose chief boast was that she never lost her head, but who took a reckless delight in making men lose theirs. Playing this dangerous game had got her into some ugly situations but she always managed somehow to escape disaster—until she met Carl Jensen. At first the slow mind and gigantic body of this simple Norwegian had been a great joke to Dorothy—but she was to learn a lesson from him that she would never forget. If you think flirting is smart—if that's your idea of fun—read what happened to Dorothy. It appears under the title, "A Soul's Redemption," in True Story Magazine for July. One of 18 big features. Haven of Solitude For Coolidge at Summer Retreat

Marines Will Augment Secret Service Guards to Assure Complete Quiet for President at Summer White House—Coolidge Will Devote Vacation to Historical Reading.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 15.—President Coolidge is planning to spend the summer with the great men of American history.

A friend, curious as to how a man not fond of golf and surf bathing would spend a summer in one of the most fashionable resorts along the Atlantic coastline, recently asked the president what he intended to do during his vacation at Swampscott, Massachusetts, where the "Summer White House" is to be established.

Mr. Coolidge is said to have replied smilingly: "There are a number of biographies of great American lives with which I have never had the time to become adequately familiar. I imagine you will find me striking up a more intimate acquaintance with those men during many of my leisure moments."

Other forms of recreation besides perusal of the histories of statesmen of the past, however, are holding out alluring charms for the president. Chief among them is the blessing of solitude and quiet—a recreation particularly enjoyable to the singularly retiring Mr. Coolidge.

Ideal Location.

"White Court," the summer estate of Frank W. Stearns, is so admirably situated as to afford the president far more privacy than he can comand even in the sanctity of his private study in the White House. The equivalent of more than two city blocks from the public highway, connected thereto by a private road, its spacious grounds shut off from adjoining property by an encircling wall, "White Court" offers a perfect retreat from the outside world. None but those the president desires to see may gain ingress.

In addition to the natural inaccessibility of the Summer White House, additional measures have been planned to assure Presidential seclusion. About the grounds, in addition to the inevitable network of secret service operatives, will be stationed the Presidential guard from the U. S. S. Mayflower—stalwart marines, especially picked for their physique and ability. Night and day, the inquisitive tourist, the aspiring social climber, the politician and the unwelcome official must run the gauntlet of this double cordon.

Anchored in the bay off "White Court" will be the Mayflower; Presidential playtoy de luxe, sea-worthy and eminently manned for pleasure cruises up and down the New England coastline. In the garages will be the White House automobiles, especially transported from Washington for the pleasure of the President. In the stables are well-groomed riding horses should the Executive desire to avail himself of the sport from which he once got much enjoyment.

Other Recreations.

Reading, resting, yachting, motoring, riding, thus will the President spend his two months at the seashore of the state he once governed. These will be his recreations—when he is not working. For no President may absent himself from Washington for sixty days and remain absolutely free of the duties of office.

Accompanying Mr. Coolidge to Swampscott will be a sizable portion of the staff of the executive offices in the capital. Just three miles away, in Lynne, they will be established in a seven-room suite of offices—stenographers, clerks, telegraph operators, telephone operators and messengers, all under the personal supervision of Secretary to the President Everett Sanders. It is not unlikely that after the first week or so of his vacation, Mr. Coolidge will spend at least an hour a day in the temporary executive offices himself, perusing mail, signing letters and official documents, and receiving really important callers.

But one adjunct of the White House staff will be left behind. They are the social secretaries. Formal receptions, teas and at-homes will be left behind in Washington as part of the tedium from which the White House couple hope to escape. Such entertaining and receiving as is done will be of the informal nature, including only those old and loved friends whom it will be a pleasure to meet with again.

Society Abustle.

Society, however, continues to make its summer plans with proximity to the summer White House a dominating factor. Old and magnificent estates along the North Shore, tenantless for many past summers, will be thrown open this month. Real estate boomed in almost Florida fashion and hotel proprietors are gleefully looking forward to a most prosperous season with rooms at a premium. The "codfish aristocracy" is joining hands with the blue books of Washington, New York and Philadelphia to give Swampscott and its environs a terrific rush during the hot months of 1925.

And, to add a cosmopolitan atmosphere, the flags of at least four foreign embassies and legations will be in evidence around "White Court." Baron Von Maltzen, the new German ambassador, is establishing a summer embassy at Magnolia. Juniper Hills. Beverly Farms, will be the site of the Italian embassy for several months with the ambassador, Baron Iacomo de Martino and his family at hand. Although Sir Esme Howard and his family will summer in Switzerland, attaches of the British embassy are moving, as usual, to Manchester, while the Siamese legation will again locate at Bass Rocks. Other members of the diplomatic corps, no doubt, will follow suit.

Invited by Stearns.

The establishment of the Coolidge retinue on the North Shore will mark the first removal from Washington of the seat of the executive branch of the government since 1916. In that year Woodrow Wilson spent his last summer before American entry in the World War at the now famous "Shadow Lawn," near Deal, New Jersey. It will be the second time in the present century, however, that the Bay State has become the temporary site of the White House. Chief Justice William Howard Taft, when president, spent the majority of his summers at Beverly.

To Hold Flower Market Tuesday

The Ulster Garden Club will hold a Flower Market on Academy Green tomorrow, if fair, or if rainy, the next day. A large collection of choice plants ready for setting out will be offered, also cut flowers and vegetables. These will be bargains for home gardeners, as the prices will be very low. Market opens at 10 a. m. and continues all day.

ROTARY CLUB FOREST.

Glens Falls Man Offers Tract of Twenty Acres.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, June 15.—An offer of 20 acres of land on Sherman avenue, near Glens Falls, has been made to the Glens Falls Rotary Club by Elmer J. West on the condition that the club establish a Rotary Club forest thereon. This offer was made at a meeting of the club at which William G. Howard, assistant superintendent of state forests of the conservation commission, told of the reforesting activities in that locality. The city of Glens Falls now has more than 1,200 acres of planted forests that include some of the finest plantations in the state. Three miles north of Glens Falls, the Warren County Sanatorium has undertaken the reforestation of a large tract of idle land and has planted 150,000 trees in the last three years. Four miles south of Glens Falls the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs is planting a 100 acre tract to be known as the Women's Federation Forest and last year planted 32,000 trees covering about one-third of the tract.

The Albany Rotary Club this year participated in planting the Albany city forest, the members of the club themselves planting 3,000 trees and employing a crew of professional planters to set out 17,000 more, the two plots being known respectively as Rotary Club Grove No. 1, and Rotary Club Grove No. 2.

The Albany Kiwanis Club made similar plantations, the club members planting a tract to be known as Kiwanis Grove No. 1 and employing a professional crew to plant another tract to be known as Kiwanis Grove No. 2.

SEA PINK FLOWERS

Not far from the ocean was a meadow filled with bright pink flowers.

The Breaker Boys Start Playing.

The meadow was rather marshy and the salt water of the ocean had stayed to make a long visit with the land.

"We would lose our color," the flowers said, "if we weren't near the sea.

"It is the sea that makes our flower petal cheeks bright with color.

"If we lived further inland our cheeks would be pale. We sometimes become pale when we are older and a little tired.

"But here, with our feet in salt marshy land, and our faces blown by the beautiful freshness of the sea winds we have bright pink faces."

Not far away Mother Ocean roared in her low, deep fashion. She was teaching the Wave children their ocean lessons.

"Never mind how rough you are, my dears," she told them. "I like to have you stir things up a bit. I couldn't bear a family of children who were too quiet.

"There are some who might not want their children to make so much noise. They might say:

"'Won't you please hush! My poor head is tired.' But not Mother Ocean.

"When the Breaker Boys start playing and the Wave children have a high old time, does Mother Ocean tell them to hush, or that she has a headache?

"Oh, no! She tells them to go ahead and play—to play wildly, madly!

"She tells them to roar and shriek, to tumble and toss and twist and rock and roar.

"She tells them to call the Winds and race and play games and cut up pranks and scamper and do whatever they wish to do.

"She is a wild ocean mother, ah yes, she is!"

So Mother Ocean was talking in her deep, low fashion.

The sea pink flowers heard her.

"That's good, old Mother Ocean," they whispered to each other.

"She's a rough one at times," said the Breeze Brothers as they lazily blew this way and that with as little effort as was possible.

"Oh, yes, she's a rough one at times," the pink flowers answered, "but she gives one so much strength."

The sea pink flowers were also called the marsh pink flowers. They were members of the Gentian family.

"We wouldn't like to be away from her," the flowers continued. "We feel that we wouldn't have any strength or energy if we lived away in the country where Mother Ocean never visited.

"We like to hear her talk. It makes us feel so full of life when we hear her great, splendid voice.

"Then she uses such a wonderful perfume—it's so briny and salty and fresh and such a suitable perfume for an ocean to use."

"I've never heard any more praise for a neighbor than you're giving now," the Breeze Brothers said.

"Of course," they added after a moment, "we really shouldn't say that, for others are just as much devoted to those who are near them. The flowers of the meadows and of the valleys are just as fond of their neighborhoods.

The Marsh Pink Flowers.

"But you do seem particularly pleased."

"She gives us a pretty pink color," the flowers said. "And we're just vain enough to be fond of a bright color.

"Maybe that's not vanity. But at any rate it is taking an interest in our looks.

"We wouldn't take such an interest in our looks if we hadn't the sea air.

"It's Mother Ocean who gives us our zest for living, our healthy feelings, our brightness, and our color.

"We're very grateful to Mother Ocean. Without her, to us at least, life would be so dull, so saltless!"

The Other Kind

Little Louis had gone to the kitchen to observe old Aunt Sarah, the colored cook, at work making biscuits. After he had sampled one, he observed:

"Aunt Sarah, I can spell now. These are made out of d-o, do."

"But that doesn't spell dough," Louis' mother corrected, as she entered the kitchen to give the cook some orders.

Whereupon Aunt Sarah thought that she, too, would enter the discussion. So she said:

"Dere's two kinds of do, chile. Dey' what you should, and 'do' what you cain."

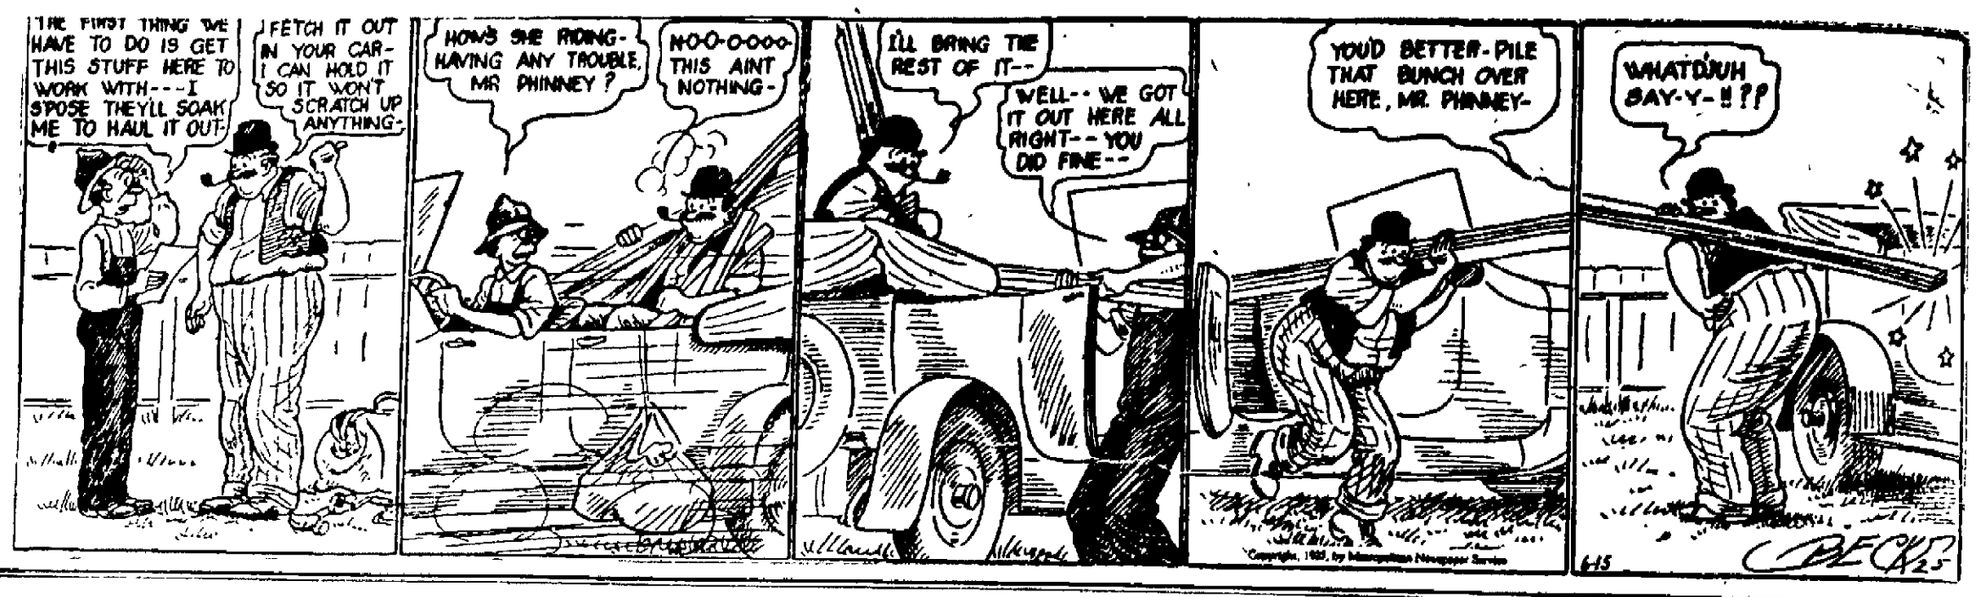
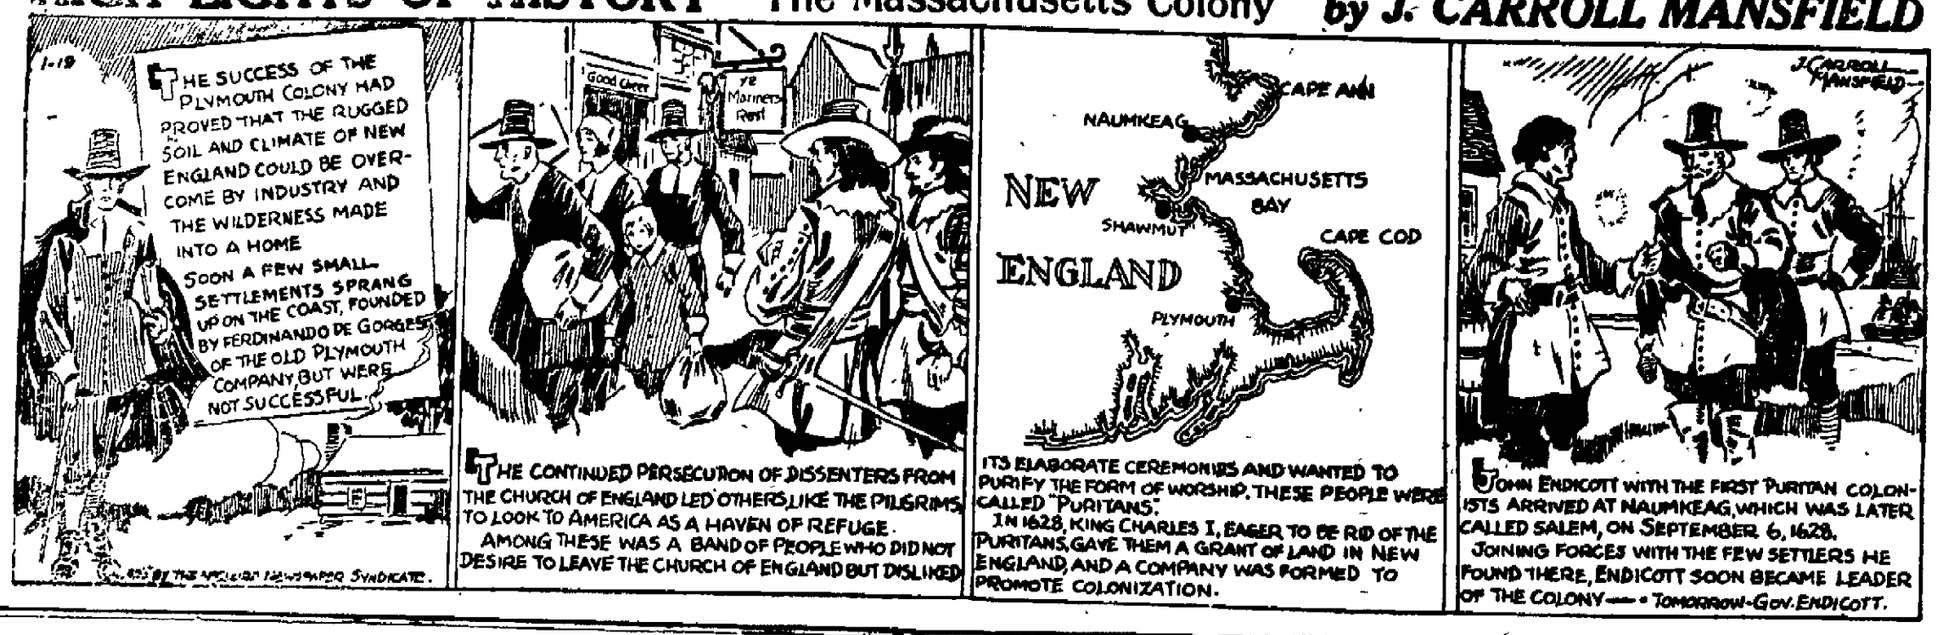
GAS BUGGIES—Did You Ever Know It To Fail?



HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY — The Massachusetts Colony — by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



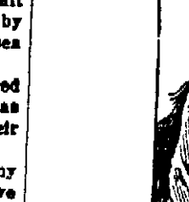
THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

The causes of failure are: No positive aim in life; no special preparation; lack of appreciation of the many opportunities for self-improvement in youth; desire to be in the swim of fashion and pleasure, haste to get rich, selfishness.

CAKES GALORE

No good housewife desires to find an empty cake box. The following are a few good ones: When the loaf cake becomes a bit stale, steam it and serve with a snappy lemon sauce for dessert; it will be eaten to the last crumb.



Sunshine Cake.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of shortening, one cupful of sugar, two eggs, one-half cupful of mashed potato, one and one-half cupfuls of baking powder, one-half cupful of hot milk and a teaspoonful of lemon extract. Mix as usual, add the hot milk at the last with the flavoring. Bake as a loaf or in layers.

Sour Cream Cake.—Cream one-half cupful of shortening with one cupful of sugar, add one-half cupful of molasses, two eggs, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of soda, two cupfuls of pastry flour, one cupful of sour cream. Add the raisins and the same amount of chopped nuts at the last. Beat well, pour into a large loaf pan and bake three-quarters of an hour.

Chocolate Drop Cookies.—Cream one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar, one well-beaten egg, one cupful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one-fourth cupful of milk, one and one-half squares of melted chocolate, one-half cupful of raisins and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix and drop from a teaspoon on a buttered sheet and bake in a moderate oven. Cover with boiled frosting.

Fruit Cup Cakes.—Take three well-beaten eggs, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, creamed with the shortening; two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, one-half cupful of hot water, to which add the soda, one cupful of coconut, one pound of dates cut fine, one teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful each of lemon and vanilla with one teaspoonful of cinnamon. Bake in small gem pans. This recipe makes about forty. Cover with icing if desired, frosting them the day of serving.

DANGER FROM MOTHS GREATEST IN JUNE

The month of June is the most dangerous month in the year to keep furs exposed, as the moths just look for a place especially furs to lay their eggs.

About June you put away your fur coat in a tar bag or cedar chest and that gives the eggs a chance to hatch. Then from June to November the moth larvae has had sufficient time to destroy your coat.

The reason why furs are not destroyed in a fur storage plant is because the FUR COATS are thoroughly beaten with bamboo sticks, and then glazed with a process that cleans and destroys all the moth eggs or larvae remaining in the coat. When it is fit to be put in storage, as storage plant is conducted on modern and scientific principles and it is well fitted in every way to protect your furs against the danger of moths, fire and theft.

Our FUR STORAGE vaults are now open till June 16 only to accept your furs.

Call 1096-J and our messenger will call for same. BANKS AND RODER, FURRIERS, 272-274 FAIR STREET.—Advertisement.

You're behind the times if you don't know that Cod Liver Oil is the greatest flesh producer in the world.

Because it contains more vitalizing vitamines than any food you can get.

You'll be glad to know that Cod Liver Oil comes in sugar coated tablets now, so if you really want to put 10 or 20 pounds of solid healthy flesh on your bones and feel well and strong ask any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets, and if you don't gain five pounds in 30 days your druggist will hand you back the money you paid for them.

It isn't anything unusual for a person to gain 10 pounds in 30 days, and for old people with feebleness overtaking them they work wonders.

Blame Sheffield For Sharp Notes

Mexican People Indifferent With Politicians Blaming Ambassador Sheffield—Conservatives Believe Break Can Be Healed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mexico City, June 15.—Although the newspapers here today were emphasizing the diplomatic crisis which has developed between Mexico and the United States, the Mexican people generally appeared to be indifferent to the political tension.

Business continued as usual in the foreign colonies and capitalists were inclined to believe the outcome of the sharp note the American government sent Mexico and which drew an equally sharp reply from President Calles, would be a definite statement of policy by each government. The representative of Henry Ford announced that the diplomatic interchange would not halt the building of a Ford motor factory here.

Reaction in Mexican governmental circles was against Ambassador Sheffield rather than the American government. Mexican politicians blamed Sheffield for the stern note which Secretary of State Kellogg dispatched.

Government officials held that Kellogg should have delivered his note to Mexican Ambassador Manuel C. Tellez, in Washington, for transmission to President Calles if he was dissatified with conditions in Mexico, and not to have released it for publication.

Conservative officials believe the breach can be healed without a surrender of dignity on either side. The impression is becoming a conviction in governmental circles that Ambassador Sheffield will not return to Mexico. It was pointed out that Sheffield's health is not good and that he cannot stand the high altitude of Mexico City.

The reference in President Calles's not to the affairs of other nations was thought to refer to Sheffield's interest in the recent British strike and developments growing out of the assassination of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, a British subject, by agrarians.

Until today, the newspapers had carefully refrained from editorial comment on the situation, preferring to await the publication of Calles's statement. The newspapers have adopted an attitude of being mystified as to just what prompted so stern a pronouncement at this time.

It was known that Sheffield protested to the Mexican government because of the great number of complaints brought to his attention by American subjects as well as British subjects, the American embassy representing Great Britain here. These complaints, almost without exception, government officials indicated, were long standing and that the Mexican government was, in each case, doing everything possible to make an adjustment.

Obstacles in the path of settlement of these claims are readily admitted by the government, the difficulty being laid to the fact that state and federal government are separate. In many instances state authorities decline to obey orders sent from the capital. In addition to this, there reigns almost supreme in each state a local political chief who in turn defies the state authorities. It has been President Calles's purpose to correct this condition.

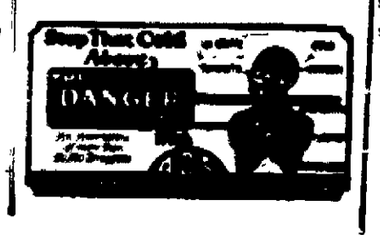
Odd Entries Into Life

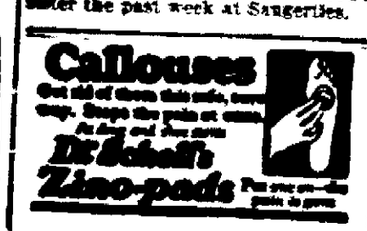
Many babies are born at sea, but it is doubtful if any entered such a troublous world as a German baby girl born in mid-Atlantic during a recent terrible storm. Steerage babies often provide an event for passengers to talk about. A subscription list is always opened, with the result that the baby receives a substantial start-off in life.

The record in strange birthday surroundings is surely held by the baby boy who was born 6,000 feet up in the air. His mother was traveling by airplane from Budapest to Naples when the event took place.

Ocean Area

The oceans of the world have an area of about 139,000,000 square miles and their combined volume is about 302,000,000 cubic miles. The average depth is two miles and the deepest known depth is five miles. A gallon of ordinary sea water contains about one-quarter pound of salt. From a study of the beds of rock salt underlying Stassfurt, Germany, New York state, Ohio, Michigan and Kansas, and Cheshire, England, it is supposed these areas are all dried-up inland seas.





CITY PAYS HOMAGE AT SHRINE OF ROSE.

Portland Celebrates Festival With Five-Day Pageant.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Portland, Ore., June 15.—This city today welcomes a great throng of visitors to what is expected to be the greatest Rose Festival in Portland's history.

For five days, commencing today, Portland will pay homage to the rose, queen of flowers, featuring the great and spectacular pageant, "Rosaria."

Ten thousand people will be in the cast of "Rosaria," which will be staged on Multnomah Field three nights of the Rose Festival. The pageant, written by Mrs. Doris Smith, will unfold the story of how beauty has exercised its refining influence and how the rose has lifted the world from the Stone Age and the cliff dwellers.

A block-long stage is under construction on the field, and the entire cast of 10,000 will be massed on it in the final episode in the ceremonies of crowning Queen Susanne. In fact, the stage, which will be a huge structure in Venetian style, is being built to accommodate half as many people as will be able to witness the pageant from seats in the amphitheater surrounding the field.

Mammoth Tableaux.

Montgomery Lynch, director of the "Wayfarer," pageant in Seattle, is in charge of "Rosaria," and for weeks has been training enormous choruses of 2,000 in singing the musical score arranged by Charles Wakefield Cadman, famous composer. For dances and pageantry scenes about 3,000 people will be used, led by dancing talent of the city.

A great curtain of steam will be one of the novelty effects. A battery of lights is being assembled for the lighting and colorful series of pageant scenes.

"The Dawn of Love" is the first episode of the pageant, and dancers will appear in elaborate settings, depicting the jungle forests before civilization, a group of cavemen returning from a hunt.

The episode will portray how the rude caveman melt under the refining influence of roses which bloom, as if by a miracle, from jungle bushes.

A Persian garden, entitled, "The Attar of Roses," will feature the second episode. A perfume distillery will be shown about which dancing girls are gathering fragrant rose blossoms and pressing from them the sweet scent. Nubian slaves and Persian crowds will be among the chorus numbers.

"The Age of Myths," will be the third episode, in which Venus will be portrayed as she comes upon her wounded lover, Adonis, and will unfold a dance version of the myth of how, from the heart's blood of a Greek god, grew the first colored rose.

Chorus of 2,000.

"The Rose of Sharon," featuring the dance of 1,000 wives of King Solomon, is the fourth episode. Then follows "The Rose of Jericho," which has to do with Herod's decree that all male babies be slain, and how an angel warned Joseph and Mary to take the baby Jesus into Egypt, and how the Holy Family rested under a rosebush, which bloomed its finest beauty for them. The "Hallelujah Chorus," sung by 2,000 voices, and a tableau of angels, will finish the spectacular number.

English history, in which the bridal procession of the Duchess of York and the Duke of Lancaster will be recreated, is the theme of the sixth episode, known as "The War of the Roses." Episode seven will be termed "The Dance of the Pacific Waves."

"The Vanishing Race," depicting an Indian camp, will feature the next episode. It will take the form of an animated illustrated song telling, in colorful costumed figures, the incidents of Cadman's song, "The Sunset Trail."

Episode nine will be a prelude to the finale, in which a series of solo dances, rose ballet and waltz drills will precede the tenth and final episode, in which the Court of Rosaria will be shown, with the final entrance and crowning ceremonies of Queen Suzanne.

Mrs. Ronald Honeyman, a beautiful blond society matron, of Portland, will be Queen Suzanne of the Rose Festival.

The pageant is the big, outstanding new feature of the Rose Festival this year. Other added attractions will be the Merrykhanna Parade on the closing afternoon, June 19, which will be made up of a great number of floats, marching groups and stunt features, the only requisite of entry being that "they must laugh."

The annual floral parade, rose show and regatta will be other features of the week of homage to the rose.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, June 15.—Children's Day will be observed by the Sunday school.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kelder, sons Robert and Franklin, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kelder at Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Josiah Krom and son, Harold, and Miss Edith Enderly and Jerome Dann spent Wednesday in Kingston.

Luke Rider is seriously ill at the home of Jerome Dann, attended by Dr. Hanker.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Miller and daughter, Viola, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Osterhoudt and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Osterhoudt and son, Jansen, visited at the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Woolsey, Kingston, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wood attended the funeral of Mrs. Wood's sister the past week at Saugerties.

Farm Bureau Forest Survey

Will Tour Adirondacks to Study Results of Reforestation, Forest Protection and Recreation Work.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, June 15—County officials with representatives of the extension service of Cornell University and the conservation commission will make a three day tour of the Adirondacks and northeastern New York to study practically all phases of the work that is being done by the conservation commission, particularly forest protection, reforestation and recreation.

The trip will include visits to the commission's fire towers in which observers are constantly on the lookout for forest fires, where the state's system of spotting, reporting and controlling fires will be studied, the inspection of several thousand acres of forest plantations ranging in age from one to twenty years, trips through municipal plantations that are now large enough to protect the watersheds of city water supplies and furnish cover for wild animals and birds, stops at several of the state's largest and most attractive public camp sites, an inspection of the state's largest forest tree nursery, and an Adirondack fish hatchery. The memorial forest just planted in honor of Clara Barton, founder and first president of the American Red Cross Society, the forest planted by the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, and the scene of the state's most disastrous forest fire which before the present forest fire protection was effective, stripped one side of the giant range, will all be included in the itinerary, and the work that the state is doing to control the white pine blister rust will be studied at several points in Warren and Essex counties.

The trip will be under the direction of Clifford R. Pettis, superintendent of state forests and the party will include officers of the Farm Bureaus of Chenango, Clinton, Franklin, Herkimer, Montgomery, Oswego, Rensselaer, Steuben, Warren, Cortland and Broome, and county agricultural agents, representatives of the extension service of the State College of Agriculture, Cornell University and others intsrested in conservation work.

The start will be made on the morning of June 20, from the conservation commission's largest nursery at Saratoga Springs where over 38,000,000 young trees are growing to furnish forest planting stock—25,000,000 seedlings just planted, 12,000,000 one-year seedlings and about one million transplants. This is the largest nursery of its kind on the American continent and contains enough young trees to plant 38,000 acres within the next two years. All the operations pertaining to the growing, transplanting and shipping the young trees will be shown and explained as a preliminary to the main trip where millions of trees propagated in this way will be seen growing in forests from two to twenty years old.

At Glens Falls the party will inspect the city forest which was started in 1910 with a plantation of 90,000 white pine, Scotch pine, and Norway spruce and has been continued from year to year, until today it contains 1,255,000 trees covering more than 1,200 acres of the city's watershed and is the largest reforesting project undertaken by any city in the state except New York which has planted numerous forests on the Ashokan watershed aggregating between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 trees.

Near Saratoga, the forest preserve of Thomas C. Luther which contains more than 2,000 acres of planted forests will be inspected and a visit will be made to the conservation commission's new fire observation tower on Cornell Hill where the visitors will be given an opportunity to study fire protection and reforestation at the same time. The entire hill which two years ago was bare land has been completely planted to young trees which in a few years will cover the hill with a pine forest.

Just north of Glens Falls the Warren county sanatorium forest which now contains 155,000 trees planted in 1922, 1923 and 1924 will be visited and at Chestertown, the Remington forest, that was a wheat field in 1865 and produced merchantable timber by 1922 from natural seeding will be inspected as an illustration of successful natural reproduction of white pine.

Public camp sites at Sharp Bridge the Wilmington Notch and Ray Brook will be visited to study the accommodations provided by the conservation commisison to tourists for camping in the forest preserve. These are three of the newest of the larger camp sites situated on the main highways and are supplied with pure water and are equipped with stone fire places, and sanitary facilities with space for parking automobiles. The summer camping season is already well under way and the visitors will have an opportunity to observe the popularity of these camp sites.

At Saranac Inn the party will visit the conservation commission's Adirondack hatchery where maskalonge, white fish, brook trout, rainbow trout and landlocked salmon are raised for distribution in state water and at Lake Clear Junction one of the commisison's smaller nurseries that now contains 17,964,000 one, two and three year old trees.

A stop will be made at the John Brown farm, the home of the famous abolitionist, now the property of the state and visits will be made to some of the oldest plantations at Axton, Cross Clearing, Chubb Hill, and Mountain pond and to the newly planted Clara Barton Memorial forest, the tour ending at Tupper Lake.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 15.—Stocks gravitated to lower prices today as the result of a steady outpouring of selling orders for oil and industrials stocks from professional and other sources. After an unsuccessful effort to turn the market at the opening the bears renewed their hammering tactics shortly after the noon period, at which time they were joined by the outside traders taking profits on the oil, and motor stocks.

There was sufficient strength in some of the newly prominent specialties like Wark Baking B., Westinghouse Air Brake, Consolidated Gas and Gulf States to give the market the appearance of stability.

Ward B. Baking was the star performer in the specialty group. This stock, which gained 8 points last week, added 7½ points more on a heavy turn over and sold up to 66⅛, against its introductory price of 35 a few weeks ago. Electric Light and Power was a consistent ground gainer, advancing more than 3 points to 35½. Standard Milling continued to move forward in vigorous fashion and reached a new high at 79.

Call money was in good supply at 3¾ per cent. Cotton was the strongest of the outside markets but grain was weak. French francs failed to recover, and foreign government bonds reflected the unsteady situation in the exchange markets.

Expected Giant Slump Is On

Eddie Farrell May Start at Third Base For Giants in Today's Game Groh and Terry Slowing Up.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 15.—Official word reached here today that John McGraw will send a young collegian, sight unseen, into the Giant line-up at third base against the Pittsburgh Pirates this afternoon. The young man in question is Eddie Farrell, University of Pennsylvania captain, who played his final college game three days ago and never before has been on a big league diamond. His hurried debut is a fitting commentary on the present condition of the Giants.

A few more weeks like the last one and they will be eased gently but firmly out of the league leadership they have held by such a generous margin all season.

The expected Giants slump is on in earnest and no one knows it better than McGraw. The team has been lucky to win as many games as it did in the west, what with injuries and mediocre pitching. They have got by the trip on their reputation and the loss of three straight games has served to tarnish that.

Before Frisch and Lindstrom return to the pastime, the National League campaign is almost certain to cease being a parade and become a jowl to jowl contest between the Giants and Pirates. No club can keep winning with men playing first and third bases with all the graceful mobility of a pair of stationary wash stands.

Groh's trick knee has finally reached a point wheer it seems destined to end his major league career prematurely. He still can hit and field but the sudden starts demanded of a third baseman are beyond him. His lack of speed is such that even a college infielder can take his job from him.

Terry can hit well but balls get away from him at first base that Kelly would snare in his armpit. These details, added to the fact that Scott is the only pitcher who is working at it and that Young, a normal .350 man, is hitting a sub-normal .250, leave the situation without illusion or ambiguity.

If the Giants, as constituted at the moment, are a pennant winner, then William Howard Taft is an acrobat.

The Philadelphia Athletics, front-runner in the other league, also are coming back to the field but not for exactly the same reasons.

They have had their share of injuries—notably that of Sam Gray after winning eight straight games—but their case goes further than that. Water simply won't run up hill indefinitely.

They opened the season with Poole, a recruit, hitting away up above .400. He is now at or below .300. Cochrane was another early season hitter who has fallen nearly 150 points in the averages and the same goes for Dykes and Bishop, who are gradually seeking their true level.

Meantime while this natural transition is being effected, the club is losing ball games.

Tagging Major League Bases

Zach Wheat's debut as manager of the Dodgers was a social and economic success amid a shower of base hits and pop bottles. Wheat's men provided the hits, the bleachers thossed the bottles at a gendarme, the Dodgers won the game and the Reds lost it. Score 12 to 3.

In an orgy of hitting, the Senators outlasted the Browns and won, 9 to 8, stepping along to within a half game of the leading Athletics.

Our Mr. Ruth smote his second homer of the season and robbed Ty Cobb of another by a leaping gloved-hand catch, the Yankees getting the decision over the Tigers, 8 to 3, behind the laudable pitching of Jones.

A six run rally in the second eased Graham out of the equation and sent the Cubs on to a 7 to 3 victory over the Braves.

The poor, old Phils finished second once more as Blades and Bell hit successive homers in the sixth and seventh, giving the Cardinals an 11 to 7 verdict.

The Athletics were shut right out for the first time this season when Karr let them down with five hits, the Indians cantering in, 3 to 0.

REGATTA CREWS START INTENSIVE TRAINING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 15.—With the newly arrived Cornell flotilla busily engaged in rigging its shells this morning, the seven varsity crews that will race in the annual intercollegiate regatta here next Monday, got down to intensive training today. Cornell was scheduled to take its first spin over the course shortly after noon and the Ithacans were fortunate, for the water was smooth for the first time in several days.

The calm was expected to bring out a few time trials this afternoon. Pennsylvania and Washington having been the only eights to attempt this stunt in the high winds and rough water. The Huskies took much the worst of it with white caps and a quartering wind and did 21:10. Pennsylvania rode with the tide in smoother going and did 19.06.

Some action is looked for from the Syracuse camp tomorrow with the arrival of five oarsmen who were detained at college by examinations. Jim Ten Eyck declined today to state what changes, if any, he would make, but it was considered significant that he means to spend tomorrow morning in altering the rigging of the varsity shell.

Colonials Beat Lancaster Sox

Ted Earle Pitches Good Game for Locals in Saturday's Game—Colonials Scored Winning Run in Final Inning.

Ted Earle, a New York collegian, brilliantly led the Colonials against the Lancaster Red Sox Saturday afternoon in such a creditable manner to cause his mound work to be respected by the few fans that witnessed the 3-2 combat. Ted carried a fiery ball that clipped off seven Lancasters before the battle terminated, besides on the other hand allowing only five hits.

In the last frame, with a tie score, Robins hit a single to Lesser in left field which took an unlucky jump off the fielder's glove. Earle sacrificed. Start flyed out to the third baseman. Kelly sent one galloping out to center field and Jack's run clinched the game for the Colonials.

The Colonials didn't arouse the Sox's defiance until the final inning, when they made two impressions in the score board, forcing the locals to take their last turn at the plate. Duna, out in center field, who exhibited a healthy arm on his tosses home, started the inning with a hit to left. Earle then awarded his only pass of the game to the Lancaster right fielder, Timasawa, who alone represented the Japanese race in professional baseball. Lesser put Duna on third and Timasawa on the second sack with a sacrifice. Robins let one of Ted's burners get by and Duna scored. After McCormick had swung for an out at one of Earle's snipers, Conroy pushed one to the second base which got the best of Matty and the Jap came across with the run to balance the affair.

The locals were also late in starting, not scoring until the sixth, when they brought in one marker. Matty singled to short stop. McDermott made second on the third baseman's error and Matty traced as far as third. McCue flyed out to the second baseman Coyle sacrificed at the pitcher's feet and Deegan finished for the first run. Two hits and a sacrifice then brought Matty's second run in during the eighth. Deegan did his share in the work with a husky double that bounced off the third sackman's glove. McDermott was out on a fly to right field. McCue singled to the short stop and Deegan finished the route on Coyle's second sacrifice.

Braumann, the Sox moundsman, kept the hits from piling up although he allowed the Colonials nine safe connections. McDermott and Deegan each hit out two pointers, Deegan's wallop being the means of scoring a valuable run.

Both of the Colonial's first two runs were completed through strategy, by the use of the squeeze play process and both times Coyle and Deegan were the participants. Bob was the cause each time while Matty came across with the results.

ALL STAR-MAYBROOK GAME CALLED IN FOURTH

Sunday at Maybrook the Kingston All Stars were at the short end of a 2-1 score in the first part of the fourth inning when the game was called on account of rain. Volker twirling for the local club allowed but one hit and two free passes. Speck Ellis gave the Kingston boys three hits two of which were gathered by Smedes and one by Hoffman. Sheldon who caught for Walden last season was on the receiving end.

Maybrook scored their two in the second on a base on balls, two errors by Stumpf and one by Smedes. The locals scored one in the third on hits by Smedes, Hoffman driving him in. The Maybrook Club which has some of the fastest semi-pro players throughout this section in their lineup are very much pleased with the All Star Club and have asked them to return for another game.

Another Win For Colonials

Irv Harris Is Knocked From the Mound in Sunday's Game—Colonials Hit Heavy—Girard Replaced Harris and Was in Good Form.

Irv Harris, the Danbury Club's pitcher was sent out to the mound Sunday afternoon, to warm up the Colonial batsmen. At any rate that's what he made of his job, for near the close of the second frame the locals' nine hits and six runs spelled his retirement, after having sent the locals a long way towards a 7-5 victory over this Brooklyn club. Girard then went in the box and held the Colonials hitless until the seventh frame when they drew a safety. In the final frame the newcomer was more liberal and allowed McCue a circuit clout, out of the lot and following this knock Coyle a double.

Russell kept the visitors perplexed until the fourth round when they made their initial hit. They began to get on to Russell more in the sixth when they coined two hits and following in the seventh and eighth coaxed two and three hits. Two visitors crossed the plate in the seventh and three more in the eighth. In the seventh Fogasch got a hit and Jones climbed aboard the first sack through an error. Murphy, the right fielder, hammered out a hard single scoring his two team mates. In the eighth the Brooklynites put Russell in a tough position. Both Girard and Rajas were anchored after being hit by Russell's curves. Dechnke sacrificed. When the second Dechnke hit out, Girard hugged third and Rajas found himself trapped between second and third with Matty behind him. This made the second out. Fogasch singled scoring Girard. Then Jones the little center fielder hit to center for a double bringing in the two Danbury players. This made their final total of five runs as the last time up three visitors up were finished in short order.

The Colonials made the most of Irv's pitching the first two innings, draining him for nine hits during his short reign. In the first Start singled, then went to second on a pass ball. Kelly doubled scoring Start. Deegan went out on a fly to the short stop. McDermott singled. McCue hammered one way out to center field for an out and Kelly scored before the throw was made home. Schwable began the locals' spurt off Harris the second frame with a single. Robins was out on a fly to center field and while Jack was still fishing for one the catcher caught Bill off first. Russell pounded out to center field, Start to right and Kelly a two baser to left scoring Schwab, who was running for Russell. Deegan secured a pass. Start scored on McDermott's hit to the second baseman. The next wallop to right field sent Harris from the mound for it scored both Kelly and Deegan, making the total of four runs in this frame. This was the locals' last tally till the eighth when McCue smashed into the breeze for a homer.

The locals did some healthy hitting Sunday. Joe Start, three hits out of three times up, Kelly two doubles and McCue an enormous wallop up and over. Coyle's two bagger in the last frame looked like a second homer at first but fell just short of the fence.

K. H. S. Suffers Double Defeat

Albany High School Tennis Team Defeated Local High School Racquet Wielders In Both Games Here Saturday.

Saturday, at Forsyth Park, the Kingston High School tennis team lost a double-header to the Albany High School team. In the morning the up-river boys defeated the locals 4-2, and in the afternoon the locals were again beaten, this time by a score of 5-1.

Herzog Loses.

Captain "Bob" Herzog of the Kingston team was defeated twice by Metz of Albany. These are the first sets that Herzog has been defeated in two years. Herzog was not playing in his usual form. Time and again he would knock the ball in the alleys or clear out of the court, from net, which is Bob's strong game. Metz is the best player that Herzog has met this year. His accuracy spelled defeat for Herzog from the beginning. Very seldom did one of Metz's shots miss its mark.

Close, Hard Playing.

Although the final scores indicate a bad defeat both in the morning and in the afternoon, every set was hard fought and close. Most of the matches before they were finally settled were played off in three sets. Powley of Kingston although defeated in the morning, came back and defeated his man in the afternoon. This was Kingston's only win in the afternoon.

The teams lined up as follows:

Morning.

Herzog of Kingston defeated by Metz of Albany, score (6-1, 2-6, 6-8).
Powley of Kingston defeated by Avery of Albany, score (2-6, 3-6).
Coons of Kingston defeated by Farver of Albany, score (4-6, 1-6).
Fowler of Kingston defeated Barrett of Albany, score (6-3, 3-6, 6-2).
Doubles:
Powley and Coons of Kingston defeated by Avery and Farver of Albany, score (3-6, 8-6, 6-3).
Herzog and Fowler of Kingston defeated Metz and Barrett of Albany, score (1-6, 6-2, 8-6).

Afternoon.

Herzog of Kingston defeated by Metz of Albany, score (3-6, 2-6).
Powley of Kingston defeated Avery of Albany, score (6-3, 4-6, 6-3).
Coons of Kingston defeated by Farver of Albany, score (6-8, 3-6, 6-0).
Fowler of Kingston defeated by Barrett of Albany, score (3-6, 6-1, 6-3).
Doubles:
Powley and Baker of Kingston defeated by Avery and Farver of Albany, score (4-6, 6-2, 5-6).

CAMPERS FLOCK TO ADIRONDACKS AND CATSKILLS.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, June 15.—The rush of campers to the public camp sites in the Adirondacks began at least two weeks earlier this year than last and several of the larger sites on the main traveled highways already have been filled to capacity over the week ends.

District Ranger E. C. Roberts, of the conservation commission, reported that on June 7, he visited the large camp site on the Sacandaga River, near Wells, about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and counted 211 automobiles and 27 tents set up. He estimated there were at least 1,000 on the camp site then and fully 500 more had been there and gone during the day.

Large week end crowds have been reported from the Sharp Bridge camp site near Elizabethtown, which has been more than doubled in size since last year.

Printed lists of all the public camp sites in the forest preserve with directions for reaching them are contained in the Adirondack and Catskill recreation circulars of the conservation commission. These circulars are supplied free upon application to all persons desiring to use the camp sites.

POLAR EXPEDITION TO START ON SATURDAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Mass., June 15.—Professional and business men of Boston today tendered a farewell dinner to Commander Donald B. MacMillan and the officers and men who will accompany him on his North Pole dash.

List of speakers at the dinner included Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore D. Robinson and President Gilbert Grosvenor of the National Geographic Society.

The feature of the program was the presentation to Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd, chief of MacMillan's flying forces, of a silver centered memorial flag of the Massachusetts Department, American Legion, which Byrd has agreed to plant below the Stars and Stripes on the "hidden" continent, which the MacMillan expedition hopes to discover north of Alaska after they have searched for the missing Amundsen polar expedition.

The ship Peary to be used in the northward dash by the MacMillan party was in readiness today at the Charlestown navy yard. The Peary will sail on Wednesday.

Final touches were being put on the auxiliary steamer Bowdoin also to be used by MacMillan. The Bowdoin was at Southport, Maine, where Maine is planning a big celebration for Friday and Saturday, the latest day scheduled for the sailing of the polar expedition.
